

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, May 14. 1723.

THE following Address of the High Sheriff, Grand-Jury, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen, and Clergy, assembled at the Assizes held for the County of York, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable William Pulteny, Esq; Lieutenant of the East-Riding of the said County.

To His most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE the High Sheriff, Grand Jury, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen, and Clergy, assembled at the Assizes held for the County of York, the 18th Day of March 1722, beg Leave to repeat the Assurances of our unshaken Fidelity to your Majesty's Person and Government, and to express our Joy for the Discovery of those unnatural and detestable Measures, which have been carried on with a View to enslave a free and a happy People.

The full and free Enjoyment of all our Civil and Religious Rights, the frequent Assurances which your Majesty has given of making the Laws (which guard them) the Rule of your Actions, demand our utmost Gratitude; nor can we ever believe any who sincerely value those Blessings, desire a Change of our Establishment.

We dare not here omit our particular Abhorrence of the infamous Prostitution of a Prelate of our Church, left our Silence might seem to insinuate, that Perfidy in that Order was not Matter of the greatest Surprise to us; but we hope, that not only the rest of that Rank, but the whole Body, by an uniform Behaviour, will effectually demonstrate their Detestation of his Crimes, that Rome may not triumph in this Advance to a Reconciliation, nor Atheists resolve our Religion into Intest.

Although we wanted not this Risk to endear your Majesty's sacred Person to us, we rejoice that you have devolved upon your Parliament the Care of that important Life, which your Clemency, your Intrepidity, had rendered too precarious.

From their just Repentment, from their memorable Indignation, we doubt not but the Cunning and the Great Traitors of all Denominations will henceforth learn, they vainly creep under the Shelter of those Laws whose Subversion they manifestly attempt, when the collective Body of a Nation resolves itself to Vengeance.

The Spirit which is exerted on this Occasion, sufficiently evince that General Disaffection, which was the Basis of this villainous Scheme, to be Imaginary; to collect the Sense of a People from the wanton Intemperance of the Vain and the Profligate, is highly Injurious: This Honour, ignominious as it is, is yet the Characteristick of the mildest Reign, and ever floats in Liberty.

We taste, we enjoy the Blessings of your Majesty's Administration, and therefore will strenuously endeavour to support it; may it long continue, may you, Great Sir, late transmit to your Descendants, the Power and the Care of making us and our Posterity happy, is the sincere and constant Prayer of,

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most Loyal and Obedient Subjects.

Lisbon, April 22. Letters from Cadix of the 4th Instant advise, that the Superintendant Sen. Patino, and the Marquess Mari, were expected there the same Day from Madrid; that the former goes to dispatch the Flota for New-Spain, and the Gallies for Carthagena and Porto-Bello, as likewise to fit out two or three Men of War, which the Marquess is to command, and they say, are designed to go before Ceuta, to cover the Spaniards in their new Works. The same Letters add, that His Britannick Majesty's Ships the Dragon and Dursley-Galley were then in that Port, bound for the Streights. His Portuguese Majesty has thought fit to order, that for the greater Convenience of Merchant-Ships, the Health-Office, hitherto kept at Paço d'Arcos, two Leagues below this City, should be removed to Bellem, a League higher. Yesterday a Man of War of 50 Guns, named Nossa Senhora de Rosario, was launched in the Presence of their Portuguese Majesties and the Infantes, who were upon the Water in their Barges, attended by a great many of the Nobility, and other Persons of Distinction.

Turin, May 5. His Sardinian Majesty designs to leave this Place this Evening, in order to pass the Summer at the Veneria. His Majesty has been pleased to order the Detachments of Horse and Dragoons designed for Sardinia, to be ready to embark by the 7th Instant. It is reported, that the Prince of Piedmont designs for Pignerol in a few Days, in order to take his Diversions, and from thence retire to the Veneria.

Hambourg, May 11. Letters from Livonia say, the Czar is expected to put some Design in Execution regarding Courland, probably to endeavour to incorporate that Dutchy with Livonia, for the Benefit of one of the Princes of Hesse-Hombourg; but that being a Matter directly opposed by Poland, 'tis conjectured it cannot be very easily effected. 'Tis said, the Muscovite Fleet is almost fitted out, and that Admiral Crevin has Orders to rendezvous the Ships near Revel. Orders are likewise sent to several Regiments to repair near Rega, where his Czarish Majesty designs to make a general Review. The German Soldiers in the Czar's Service who had Leave given them to be absent for some time from their Duty to transact their private Affairs, are all summoned to return to their respective Posts, upon Penalty of severe Treatment in case they fail to be present with their Companies in the Space of six Weeks from the Date of their Summons: 'Tis reported however, that those Officers have good Reason to dissuade them from returning.
